

TeleClix™ Services

We offer not only tailored products but also individual services to our customers.

After the purchase of our products, you can still count on us. We accompany your entry into the interactive world and take on the continuous maintenance of the interactive TV broadcast systems. For you, a full concentration on the introduction of interactive television is therefore possible.

In addition, we offer you the conception, the development and the testing of interactive TV applications, according to your wishes and ideas, out of one hand.

Our trainings about interactive television are tailored to the particular target group. As a consequence, we offer specific trainings for example for editors or technicians.

Our services are at every time focused on the offering of additional value. Your needs are always the starting point for every analysis that we conduct. Challenge us - we are pleased to work together with you.
